AgilePath Corporation Adds Dick Morley to Advisory Board

AgilePath Launches Advisory Board with Addition of “Father of the PLC”

NEWBURYPORT, MA—May 22, 2006 – AgilePath Corporation, a leading service-oriented architecture (SOA) management and technology consulting firm, announced today the formation of its Advisory Board with the addition of Richard E. Morley as its seminal member. Dick Morley’s extensive resume of entrepreneurial leadership and technology acumen will play a critical role in AgilePath’s continued growth and leadership in the service-oriented architecture (SOA) and Web services arena. Mr. Morley is the first member of AgilePath’s newly-formed Advisory Board.

“I am excited to join AgilePath’s advisory board to contribute to its growth and solidify its position as a leading SOA professional services firm,” said Dick Morley. “SOA is an exciting space now, and it requires the thought leadership and proven expertise that AgilePath has demonstrated for the last three years. I look forward to working with the AgilePath team to continue its momentum in its Commercial and Federal Government segments.”

Mr. Morley is best known as the “Father of the programmable logic controller (PLC)” and is the leading visionary in the field of advanced technological development. He is also an entrepreneur with more than three decades of revolutionary achievements. Mr. Morley is the recipient of the Franklin Institute’s prestigious Howard N. Potts Award and is an inductee of the Automation Hall of Fame. He holds more than twenty US and foreign patents, including those for the parallel inference machine, the hand-held terminal, the programmable logic controller and magnetic thin film. Currently, he is the Chairman of the Board of National Center of Manufacturing Sciences (NCMS), Director at Large for the Society Manufacturing Engineers (SME) and a member of the Manufacturing Advisory Board for Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI). Dick Morley is an inventor, consultant, engineer and author, having written articles for magazines and journals worldwide including Manufacturing Automation Magazine. In recognition for his ground breaking contributions, Mr. Morley has received numerous awards and honors from such diverse groups as Inc. Magazine (Entrepreneur of the Year), Society of Manufacturing Engineers (Albert M. Sargent Progress Award)

“Dick Morley is internationally recognized as a technology pioneer and global entrepreneur. As a friend and colleague for many years, we felt it was time to enlist his vast experience on behalf of AgilePath Corporation in the fast-developing SOA industry,” said AgilePath President and CEO Eric A. Marks. “Dick’s expertise will be a tremendous asset as AgilePath continues its growth as a leading provider of SOA consulting solutions for our Commercial, Federal Government and Department of Defense clients.”

AgilePath is an innovative SOA consulting firm that pioneered the business approach to service-oriented architecture (SOA) in 2003 based on AgilePath Founder Eric Marks’s book “Executive’s Guide to Web Services” (2003, Wiley). AgilePath President and CEO Eric Marks has just released his second SOA book, “SOA: A Planning and Implementation Guide for Business and Technology” (2006, Wiley), and is about to begin his third SOA book later in 2006. AgilePath’s patent-pending SOA Playbook™ methodology is the capstone of its professional services offerings and provides the overall flow for rapid, high value SOA consulting services for its clients.
